

Simon Greenberg

Simon Greenberg

Partner

T: +33 144 055 114

E: jason.fry
@cliffordchance.com

Simon Greenberg is a Partner in Clifford Chance Paris office specialising in international arbitration, with a particular ICC focus. Before joining Clifford Chance in February 2012, he spent four years as Deputy Secretary General of the ICC International Court of Arbitration, having previously practiced with leading international arbitration firms in Paris and Australia.

He is a Court Member nominated by Australia to the ICC International Court of Arbitration and has written numerous articles and two books on international arbitration.

Simon also lectures on international contracts at Sciences Po in Paris and on international arbitration at Hong Kong University.

Simon is a graduate of Deakin University, Melbourne (where he graduated top of law), and holds an LL.M. in private international law from the Université de Paris II, Assas-Panthéon.

Independent commentary: “Simon Greenberg is very knowledgeable and able to advise on the legal matters and strategy of selection of arbitrators and experts.” Legal 500